

New Positions

CentreLearn Solutions LLC (Shrewsbury, Penn.), a provider of online learning support systems for fire departments and emergency medical services nationwide, hired Sonia Misajlovski as account manager for the northeast region. She has an extensive sales and business development background in the public safety sector, previously as an account manager for Sleuth software, a provider of technology systems for law enforcement.

SONIA MISAJLOVSKI

PureSafety (Franklin, Tenn.), a provider of safety training and health management software, promoted Marshall Martin to executive vice president and general manager of the company's new Workforce and Occupational Health Management Solutions business unit, and Mike Kroll to executive vice president and general manager of its new Workforce Safety and Training Management Solutions business unit. In addition, the company hired Allison Pullen as senior marketing manager for the Workforce and OHMS unit.

MARSHALL MARTIN

The Board of Certified Safety Professionals (Savoy, Ill.) selected Thomas Adams, CAE, as its new executive director following a national search. He replaced Dr. Roger Brauer, CSP, P.E., CPE, who led the organization from 1996-2009 and who will remain with BCSP in an ex officio capacity until his formal retirement in August 2010. Adams previously was CEO of the Association of Clinical Research Professionals, a 21,000-member association based in Washington, D.C.

TOM ADAMS

TÜV SÜD America Inc. (Peabody, Mass.), a globally recognized testing and certification organization, appointed Thomas C. Ambrosia as food safety program manager in its Management Services Division. He is responsible for supporting SQF program and food safety initiatives in the North American region while managing key accounts and serving as lead auditor for the organization.

Murphy Company (St. Louis), a mechanical contractor serving industrial, commercial, and institutional markets, hired Dennis Polfliet as a safety engineer. A lifetime member of the Air Force Sergeants Association and Veterans of Foreign Wars, Polfliet has participated in the Behavioral-Based Safety Observation Program throughout St. Louis and also served as the safety engineer at the Buzzi Unicem River Cement Plant.

DENNIS POLFLIET

The Enterprise Engagement Alliance (New York), an initiative of organizations that are interesting in developing and promoting the field of enterprise engagement, named Allan Schweyer as chairman. Most recently was the executive director and VP of research for the Human Capital Institute, and he remains a principal at the Washington, D.C.-based Center for Human Capital Innovation. He has contributed to the field of human capital management for almost two decades and is the author two books, "Talent Management Systems" (2004) and "Talent Management Technologies" (2009).

The American Road and Transportation Builders Association (Washington, D.C.), which represents more than 5,000 members of the transportation design and construction industry, elected its 2009-2010 officers. Larry Tate, the worldwide product manager for Caterpillar Inc. (Decatur, Ill.), was elected chairman, and Bill Cox, president of Corman Construction (Annapolis Junction, Md.) was elected Senior Vice Chairman. For a complete list of results, visit www.artba.org and click on "Current Officers" in the "About" section.

